

MUSEUM[®]

Fear Itself

The First Great Depression

Coming Soon . . .

The Future

Drinking It Up

Outreach at the Pub

FLY ON THE WALL

Art meets science geek in the exhibit "Jo Whaley: Theater of Insects," for which the artist incorporates large-scale photos of insects into backgrounds of cast-off materials like rusted metal and worn paper. The 40-some photographs are joined by a selection of insect cases and glassed archaeology trays. Organized by the Museum of Photographic Arts, May 16 to Sept. 27. Venue: Museum of Photographic Arts, San Diego.

TALES FROM THE CRYPT

Edgar Allen Poe may have been born 200 years ago, but there are still raven-heads aplenty. To celebrate this beloved American author's bicentennial, two universities have collaborated to present "From Out That Shadow: The Life and Legacy of Edgar Allan Poe," featuring manuscripts, books, art and such personal effects as letters and the poet's writing desk. Organized by the Harrison Institute/Albert and Shirley Small Special Collections Library and the Harry Ransom Center. To Jan. 4. Venues: Harrison Institute/Albert and Shirley Small Special Collections Library at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville; Harry Ransom Center at the University of Texas at Austin.