Scope and Contents

Dime novels were a nineteenth-century American publishing phenomenon: short potboiler fiction, in lurid covers, that typically sold for ten cents. They are the antecedents of both modern paperbacks and comic books. The Ransom Center's Dime Novel Collection contains 857 of these early titles put out by Beadle & Adams, who originated the concept in 1860; the collection was formed by Frank P. O'Brien. The collection is arranged by publisher's series with the volumes arranged numerically within each series: I. Dime Novels; II. New Dime Novels; III. Pocket Novels; IV. Dime Libraries; V. Half Dime Libraries; VI. Pocket Library; VII. Lives of Great Americans; VIII. Twenty Cent Novels.

Two copies of the scarce first dime novel, Malaeska, the Indian Wife of the White Hunter (1860) by Mrs. Ann Stephens, begin the Center's holdings, which continue to the end of the century. The individual volumes in the Dime Novel Collection have not been cataloged separately, but a list of authors and titles is included in this guide. Full details for each title can be found in Albert Johannsen's The House of Beadle & Adams (1950). Call numbers were assigned using series and numbers from Johannsen's lists and missing numbers indicate gaps in the Center's collection.

Many dime novels put out by other publishers can be found in various collections in the Center; the Ellery Queen collection is especially rich. Although a number of authors wrote exclusively for the dime novel genre, others were also published in more traditional formats. These latter, especially, are well-represented in the Ransom Center's general run of American nineteenth-century literature.

Ancillary items from this collection include a number of photographs of Buffalo Bill (William F. Cody), who wrote for the series; the mounted head of a buffalo shot by Cody; and the large Beadle & Adams publisher's sign, which showed the way to their premises.
