

HARRY RANSOM CENTER

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT AUSTIN

Materials Use Policy

The Harry Ransom Center carefully regulates the use of materials in its collections. Policies governing access, photoduplication, and publication of these materials are established by the Director with the advice of the Center's Public Use Committee and the Office of General Counsel of The University of Texas System. This policy attempts to balance the needs of patrons, the exclusive rights of the copyright holder, and the Center's own rights and responsibilities toward its collections.

Access

Any patron wishing to use the Center's materials is required to complete and sign a Patron Application and give information about the subject, scope, and purpose of the research being undertaken. Patrons working onsite must show current photo identification; letters of reference are not required. We may require users of high school age or younger to be accompanied by an adult. The Ransom Center grants all patrons equal access to its collections, subject to uniformly enforced restrictions placed on materials by donor or purchase stipulation, statutory authority, or by the Ransom Center itself for preservation, processing, or other administrative purposes.

Duplication

Patrons are allowed to take digital photographs of materials for reference purposes only, subject to the stipulations of the Digital Photography Policy. Digital copies may also be ordered, with fees assessed on a cost-recovery basis. The Center will consider requests for duplication of materials on a case-by-case basis. Rush orders are accepted at the Center's discretion and are subject to additional charges. The Center will not duplicate any materials that might be damaged by the duplication process, nor will it duplicate an entire archive. Patrons needing to use large quantities of materials should plan to conduct research onsite since the Center limits the total number of copies it will provide to any one patron for a single project. No materials may be duplicated that have had copying restrictions placed on them by purchase agreement, donors, depositors or by the Ransom Center itself for preservation, processing, or other essential purposes.

Generally, the Center provides research copies within the Fair Use and other provisions of U.S. Copyright Law, except for audio and moving-image materials. Copies in any format may not be further reproduced, sold, shared, or given to another person, company, or institution for any purpose without the written permission of the Ransom Center.

Publication

Patrons who wish to use Ransom Center original materials or images from printed material in a publication, performance, or broadcast must secure high-resolution copies from the Center for that purpose and complete and submit the appropriate notification form. In addition to notifying the Ransom Center and (if applicable) paying a use fee, patrons also must obtain any necessary permissions from the copyright holder, which in some instances may be the Ransom Center and The University of Texas at Austin. The Center maintains the online WATCH database identifying some copyright holders, as well as a guide to locating those not listed. Patrons having questions about copyright liability should seek legal counsel.

Independent of any fees that may be assessed by a copyright holder, it is the policy of the Ransom Center to assess a fee for some uses of materials from its collections. Such fees are intended to offset a small part of the Center's costs for processing, preservation, and servicing of its collections. Fees for the use of images are determined by the print run and distribution of the intended publication. The Center also reserves the right to assess a fee to quote from or publish manuscripts when use is deemed to be significant or extensive. Fees for the use of manuscripts are negotiated on a case-by-case basis. A complete copy of any publication (in any medium) that makes use of Ransom Center materials must be given to the Ransom Center for its collections.

PATRONS WILL DEFEND, INDEMNIFY, AND HOLD HARMLESS THE RANSOM CENTER AND THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS SYSTEM, ITS BOARD OF REGENTS, THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT AUSTIN, ITS OFFICERS, EMPLOYEES, AND AGENTS AGAINST ALL CLAIMS, DEMANDS, COSTS, AND EXPENSES INCLUDING ATTORNEYS' FEES INCURRED BY COPYRIGHT INFRINGEMENT OR ANY OTHER LEGAL OR REGULATORY CAUSE OF ACTION ARISING FROM THE USE OF RANSOM CENTER MATERIALS.
